Synopsis

When Gem (Erica Hubbard) asks her long-lost friend to be the maid of honour at her wedding, her fiancé, Allen (Brad James), has no clue that he's meeting Kiya (Altovise Lawrence), a wildly outspoken novelist and self-proclaimed lesbian. Though an aspiring writer himself, Allen does not find a friend in his new house-guest but a rival for Gem's attention. Eventually, the soon-to-be husband discovers there's a lot more to the story than his fiancée explained when he finds himself in a modern-day love triangle.

Biographies – Cast

Erica Hubbard – Gemma

Born and raised in Chicago, Erica Hubbard knew at the age of nine that she wanted to be an actress, after she performed in her first stage play. Hubbard attended Columbia College in Chicago where she majored in Broadcast Journalism and minored in Theater and earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in three years. After graduating, she landed her first television show “Up 'N Running,” a teen show that focused on educating kids on a variety of different topics. By the time the third season started airing, she had already won a Regional Emmy award for hosting the show. As a child, she appeared in commercials for McDonald's, Reebok, Sears, Kellogg's, MCI, and others. Her best-known modeling appearances have been in various magazines as the Noxzema "girl" for its 2006 campaign. She has appeared in the films “Simon Says”, “Akeelah and the Bee”, “The Sisterhood of the Traveling Pants”, “Save the Last Dance”, “A Cinderella Story”, and in numerous television series including “Lincoln Heights”, “CSI: Miami”, and “Everybody Hates Chris”. She also had a voice role in the video game “The Walking Dead”.

Brad James – Allen

Brad James is an American actor best known for his role as Todd in the sitcom Tyler Perry's “For Better or Worse”. He has appeared in many commercials for brands including Walmart, AutoTrader.com and Blackberry. In 2013, James won the Georgia's Best Actor award at the Georgia Entertainment Gala. In 2013, he was cast to portray the role of Adam in the movie “Marry Me for Christmas”. He appeared in the Nicholas Sparks adaptation of his popular novel “The Choice,” with Teresa Palmer, Alexandra Daddario and Benjamin Walker. His other feature film credits include appearing alongside Billy Crystal and Bette Midler in the family comedy “Parental Guidance,” appearing with Jake Gyllenhaal and Hugh Jackman in Denis Villeneuve's “Prisoners,” and starring as Spence in the feature film “Comeback Dad.” In 2016 he appeared on “NCIS: New Orleans,” adding to his long list of television credits that also include ABC's “Devious Maids”, The CW's “Hart of Dixie” and recurring on WGN's critically acclaimed series “Underground.” In addition to his acting, Brad has also begun to write, produce and direct.

Roger Guenveur Smith – Martin

Roger Guenveur Smith is an internationally acclaimed actor, writer, and director who has created a prolific body of work on stage and screen. He adapted his Obie Award-winning solo performance of a Huey P. Newton Story into a Peabody Award-winning telefilm, directed by his longtime colleague Spike Lee. For Lee's Oscar-nominated “Do the Right Thing”, Smith improvised the stuttering hero, Smiley, after his debut as fraternity pledge Yoda in Lee's first studio film, “school daze”. The eclectic range of characters expanded with a Russian roulette-playing gangster in Malcolm X, a guitar-playing cop in “Get on the Bus”, the street philosopher Big Time Willie in “He Got Game”, a hardnose detective in “Summer Of Sam”, and an opportunistic insurance salesman in “Chi-Raq”. Also among Smith's recent credits are “The Birth Of A Nation”, and “Bitch”, which have achieved distinction in three consecutive Sundance Festivals, and the acclaimed indies “Mooz-Lum”, and “Better Mus' Come”, in which he plays the Prime Minister of Jamaica. He has also appeared in the cult classics “Deep Cover” and “King Of New York”, “Eve's Bayou”, “Hamlet”, “All About The Benjamins”, and “American Gangster”, for which he was nominated for the Screen Actors' Guild Award. On HBO, Smith has starred in Steven Soderbergh's “K Street”, “Oz”, and “Unchained Memories: Readings From The Slave Narrative”.

Miguel A. Núñez, Jr –Tobias

Miguel A Núñez, Jr is an American actor, comedian, and executive producer. He is probably best known for his roles in “Juwanna Mann”(2002) and “Tour of Duty”(1987). He has often appeared alongside successful actor and comedian Eddie Murphy, including in “Life”, “Pluto Nash”, and “Nutty Professor 2: The Klumps”. In 2006, Núñez had a recurring role alongside Matt LeBlanc in the second season of the “Friends” spin-off, “Joey”, playing Joey’s best friend, Zach. He has several producer credits, mainly for short or video movies, though also for TV shows including “Homeboys in Outer Space”, a programme for which he also wrote one episode. He created the show “Belle’s” with Ed. Weinberger in 2012, and wrote several episodes which starred Keith David and Elise Neal. The show followed an African American family who run a restaurant in Atlanta. Núñez also played a role on the show. In 2004, he directed “Up Against the 8 Ball”, a comedy about two college girls who play pool to make money for their tuition.

Altovise Lawrence – Kiya

Altovise Lawrence is a South African actress best known for winning the first season of BET Africa's first ever original production, “Top Actor”. On 2 April, 2015, BET Africa launched on DStv and its first South African original production was “Top Actor”, in which 12 aspiring actors competed for a R100,000 prize and agency representation. Altovise won the competition, beating Francois Jacobs and Nicolas Nkuna in the finale and was signed to Restless Talent Management. She was 23 at the time. From Boksburg, Johannesburg, she graduated with honours from the University of Witwatersrand with a Bachelor's degree in Dramatic Arts in 2013. She has appeared in the feature films “Blood Drive” (2017), “Love by Chance” (2017), and “Single Guys” (2013). Her professional acting debut was in the James Ngcobo-directed play “The Colored Museum” (2014) which ran at the Market Theatre. Her first television appearance was a minor role as an interviewee on the SABC3 soap opera “Isidingo”, in late 2014. In 2016, Altovise was cast in the e.tv soapie “Scandal!” as Chantal, love interest to Stokkies.

Biographies – Crew

Warren Pemberton – DIRECTOR

Writer, director and producer, Warren Pemberton is the CEO of Soul rebel Entertainment. Born in Connecticut, he started out as a Drama major in 1989 at UCONN, before transferring to Clark Atlanta University to receive his degree in Film.

In 1996, he interned at Paramount Studios for Entertainment Tonight and continued to be a contributor in the entertainment world, by working for Stone Stanley Production's The Mole. In 2001, he worked on Bunim-Murray Production's The Real World. Warren went on to direct a music video for Konkrete's 'Whatcha Wanna Do' in 2004 and a 'Rock Your Fashion' segment for MTV in 2008.

Throughout his tenure he also worked on several independent films, music videos and other various network TV shows and commercial films. The Other Side is his sophomore film.
